The Russian Ultimatum.

A few days ago a very exciting news telegram was received here. It stated that Russia had delivered its ultimatum to Turkey, giving that Power ton days in which to accept or reject it. The ultimatum, it was asserted, demanded that the Sultan should code the isle of Crete to Greece and place on a footing of political equality all the Christians within his borders. Failing to comply with this very modest demand of a sincere friend and admirer (who doubts that Russia admires Turkey?) war was to be declared at the end of the ten days of grace. This telegram was dated London, 10th September. A subsequent despatch of the 11th stated that great anxiety was felt in London lest the Sultan, relying too much upon the friendship of France and Great Britain, should decline to accode to the Russian demands. These two telegrams bore on their face an aspect of plausibility, and might have been swallowed without the addition of the customary grain of salt; but, unfortunately for the reputation of the newspaper (the Now York Tribune) that first gave them publicity, a despatch dated Con. stantinople, September 14th, came to hand on the 16th, in which not the slightest allusion was made to the ultimatum; but which stated that Turkey had refused, in answer to a note from all the Western Powers, to appoint a mixed commission to inquire into the affairs of Crete. Had the ultimatum been presented on the 10th inst., it is hardly to be believed that on the 14th-scarcely four days afterwards-Turkey would have de clined to appoint a commission, when to have appointed one would have secured it the sympathy, if not the support of a majority of signers of the note; nor does it appear possible that between the 10th and 14th the Governments of Great Britain and France could have been communicated with, answers returned, and the Porte placed in a position to act with so much freedom in the affairs of the unfortunate island. The report of the presentation of the ultimatum is very improbable. It is, indeed, "very like a whale"-one of the roorback species, which the New York press are too much in the habit of publishing, with the object of creating a sensation, and which we have always advised our readers to receive with caution. The affairs of Turkey are in a deplorable state, no doubt. But the Sultan has promised, as the only plan by which he can prevent absorption by Russia, to introduce reforms and correct abuses, to discourage religious intolerance and persecution, and to call around him a Cabinet of advisers composed of Christians and Moslems in equal number. The world has reason, therefore, to hope that if these promises are but half fulfilled, a new era is about to dawn in Turkey, and that the obstacle that will prevent the further advance of the Russians to wards the Mediterranean, will be the happiness and contenument of the Turks in place of the bristling bayonets of allied armies.

An Orange Row in Upper Canada.

(From the Kingston Whig) The anniversary of the battle of the Boyne was celebrated in Kingston in the usual enthusiastic manner by a grand procession. The day was an exceptionably fine one, and crowds came to the city to witness the celebration and take part in it. The country lodges from the adjoining townships mustered in great numbers and entered the city from the different points in procession about 9 o'clock. The lodges from a distance were relieved of the attendance here, and held their own celebrations. About half-past nine o'clock, the city lodges formed in procession in front of the City Hall, and were joined by their country brethren. The whole being formed up, the procession then awaited the arrival of the Ledges Nos, 1 and 100 from Brockville, which came up by a special train on the Grand Trunk Railway, and were brought into the city station, and then took up the line of march along the customary route through the streets to the cricket ground, where about noon, inspiring addresses were dellvered by the Rev Mr. Ryckman and Bros., Wm Shannon, Dawson and Nimmo, and others. The speeches were loudly cheered and greatly pleased the brethren. The procession, if not the brethren. The procession, if not the largest, was the most respectable which has taken place on the same day in Kingston since the visit of the Prince of Wales Its respectability was very marked, and the decorum observed in the ranks was unusually good. The number of lodges was about twenty-four, and very many more banners were borne, though no new ones were particularly noticeable. Four brass bands accompanied the processionthe Brockville band accompanying the visiting brethren from that place; the Picton band, led by Mr. Jacobs, which was engaged for the occasion; Messrs Fraser and Hindmarsh's city band, and Mr Scott's band. Besides there were innumerable fife and drum bands, without which the procession would be incomplete. The music discoursed was, as usual, not of the most pleasing, though inspiring nature. The Wolf Island Lodge did not take part in the procession on account of a split in its ranks. The Grand Marshal, Mr George Brown, was assisted by Bros. Chas. Livingston, District Master of Kingston; William Makins, County Kingston; William Makins, County Director of Ceremonies; and by John Irvine, James Marshal Phair, and Hugh McCaugherty, the Assistant Grand Mar shals. The steamer Watertown brough

After the proceedings in the cricket ground had ended, the procession reformed and marched down Union street, along Wellington street, and met a string of fligs containing the English rose, the French tri-colour, flags of Turkish and Morocco designs, and English national flags, which Capt. Gaskin had extended across the street in fromt of his residence, in honour of the Grand Lodge of Masons, now in session here, as well as in honour of the day. About two-thirds of the procession had passed under these flags when it was pointed out to the sensitive country brethren that the ground work on the oriental flags was green, and that they were lowering themselves and the Order in passing under the Green. At the corner of Gore street one of the Pittsburg Lodges moved out of the procession and began to play itself down the street. It was induced again to join the procession, but it only proceeded a few paces when, headed by its banner and the fifes and drums, it again wheeled out and proceeded down Gore street. The standard bearer having become excited, drew a revolver and fired it off as an intimation that he was not to be interfered with. The other Lodges now marched on, filling the vacancy in the ranks, but several of the country Lodges refused to pass under the flags. The city lodges and the more the flags. The city lodges and the more respectable country lodges joined the main procession, which walked quitely

a small crowd of excursionists from Mil-

through the city and dispersed.

The excited Orangemen now assembled in a riotous way in front of Capt. Gaskin's house, and demanded that the flags be hauled down, and they be allowed to proceed, as they would not walk under the flags. Some of the most ignorant members mistook the large rose for the sham rock, and no argument could induce them transacted with foreigners without to alter their opinion of the design Brother Phillips and Assistant Marshal Livingston used every exertion to quiet the Brethren, but their efforts were found to be useless, the great cry being "down with the flags." Capt. Gaskin, who is a consistent Protestant, was present, but very properly refused to lower the flags, inglittle cockleshell, and the splendid which were not in any way objectionable, and had every right to fly. The scene soon became one o' danger. Stones were turled at Captain Gaskin's house, and its modest pair of rowers, comes alongtwo large missles crashed through his windows, nearly striking his neice, who was standing in one of then. Stones were lady's veil much information is given also fired at the flags, and persons in the concerning the English ambassador crowd had narrow escapes from being and the French, and the Vizier's wife struck. One man received a cut in the head with one of the missiles, and Capt. Lesseps and the Suez canal—in short, Gaskin was struck a heavy blow on the all that it behoves his highness to learn the sturdy cheers of the rest. During the whole of the operation the cheering was SAN FRANCISCO, Sopt. 20—The East-kept up with spirit. The flags down, orn line is again in working order, they were indiscriminately trampled on, but up to this hour have received no and in the grasp of the mob were soon torn into shreds. The Turkish flags and one or two nondescripts alone escaped their fury. In hauling down the rope suspending the flags, a portion of the chimney of the Misses Rice, to which one end was attached, was pulled down, and the bricks came tumbling down from the roof, through the shade trees, dropping into a crowd of women and children none of whom, strange to say, were seri ously hurt.

Commencement of Work on the New York Elevated Railroad.

The New York Times, August 6th, says: The construction of the Elevated Street Railway was commenced last week and the work is now being rapidly pushed forward. It is the intention of the directors to complete the lower section first, in order to allow the public to judge of the merits of the enterprise as a whole. Workmen at present are engaged in excavating the earth in Greenwich street, and several foundation blocks have been built. The process of excavating will be in readiness for the erection of the pillars and the laying of the rails. original design contemplated the erection of two rows of pillars, but it has been decided to dispense with the inner row, a single row being thought sufficient to serve the purpose of the Company. pillars will be highly ornamental in pat-tern. The public are cautioned against forming an opinion of the railway at the present stage of the work. As yet nothing is to be seen of it but deep pils in the street, loose earth and stones piled up in heaps and some rude mason work. The railway is known as the Westside Railway, constructed on the elevated plan and is not to be confounded with the Metropolitan Transit, or three tier rail-The public will probably have an opportunity of witnessing the working of cars on the lower end of the route in about four or five weeks' time. The motive power, as has been announced in previous descriptions of the road, will be obtained from stationary engines, erected at the distunce of half a mile apart. cars will be drawn over the rails by means of a rope passing over a dram and attached to the car. The machinery will be ready to be put up by the time the rails

England at Paris.

The following list of awards in one of he most important classes at the Paris Exhibition, has just been published, and may be taken as a very fair index of the position England occupies in the classes generally :-

Gold Medals awarded for Agricultural Machinery.

1st, J. and F. Howard, Bedford. 2nd, Albaret & Co., France 3rd, Clayton, Shuttleworth, and Co, Lincoln.

4th, J. Fowler & Co., London. 5th, R. Garrett & Sons, Leiston. 6th, C. H. MacCormick, Chicago, 7th, Ransomes & Sims, Ipswich. 8th, Walter A. Wood, America.

9th, H. F. Eckert, Prussia. 10th, C. Gerard, Vierson, France.

11th, Usine D'Œfverum, Sweden. 12th, J. Pinet, France.

13th, M. Cumming, France, 14th, F. R. Lotz, France. 15th, R. Hornsby & Sons, Grantham.

"The jury proceeded in this way. The exhibitor whose machines, in their opinion, possessed the highest merit was placed first on the list of awards; the next second, and so on. The Bedford firm is the only English one placed before the great French maker Albaret, whom the French jurors strove hard to put a the head of the list, but were successfully resisted by the other jurors. In other branches of engineering, the English have carried off a very small share of the honours. The only English agricultural machinery exhibited as a trophy at the Palace of Industry, where the distribution took place, was selected from that shown by Messrs. Howard."—Bell's Messenger.

THE POWER BEHIND THE TURKISH THRONE.—The Paris correspondent of the Court Journal gives this curious bit of gossip: The Sultan's egeria has arrived from Marsoilles to assist at the preparations made for his private accommodation, and has suggested im-provements, which were, of course, immediately attended to. This lady, although never very handsome, and no longer very young, is considered the real light of the harem, as it is by her own brilliant intellect that the Saltan is guided in all things. The exact country which gave the lady birth is an ystery. Her mastery of languages is so perfect (and herein lies the secret of her power at the Turkish court) that no business is ever being submitted first of all to Madame Wise in her generation, too, she has adopted the Bosphorous itself knee. The sword-bearers in many instances flourished their weapons. At last the little caique slowy steers away, the infuriated crowd resolved to tear down the flags, but not daring to trespass ward Dolma Batche, enough knowly

EFFECT OF ALTITUDE ON PHTHISIS -

The beneficial influence of the light atmosphere of elevated localities on phthisical patients is becoming generally acknowledged. The Peruvian Government has established a military hospital in the valley of Jauja. 10,000 above the level of the sea, to which soldiers thus affected are sent from the sea-coast and from Lima. It appears from statistics (London Med.-Chirurg. Review) that nearly 80 per cent. of such patients are cured. Phthisis is remarkably common and fatal in Lima and on the coast of Poru, causing nearly 23 per cent. of the entire mortality in the capital. The native Indians are singularly prone to it—a fact which has been bserved on the Pacific coast of North America, especially where they are brought within the restraints and indulgencies of civilized life. The editor of the Medical Chirurgical Review is in raptures over the reputed Elysian charms of the Jauja valley, which he thinks is the valley described in Rasselas; and he congratulates his readers on the possibility of reaching it almost without changing vessels, when the Americans carry out their project of running a line of stenmers 2500 miles up the Amazon.—Pacific Medical Journal.

GOOD OLD PORT .- Jerrold's Joke about the old port and the elder port will be unpleasantly recalled to 'crusty' drinkers by the following paragraph on the manufacture of Portuguese wine, from a note by the British Secretary of Legation a Liston: All port wine hitherto exported for the English market is largely mixed with braudy, and is composed almost as much of elderberries as of grapes. The way in which what in England is called port wine has hitherto been manufactured for the London market is this: The Piaz de Venhaiteiro abounds in elder trees the berries of these trees are dried in the sun or in kilus The wine is then thrown on them, and the berries are trodden (as previously the grapes) till it is thoroughly saturated with the coloring-matter of the berries Brandy is then added in the berries Brandy is then added in the proportion of from three to 16 gallons to every pipe of 115 gallons. This is the composition of all the port wine hitherto drank in England. No pure wine, no wine not thus specially adulterated for the English taste was allowed by the Government Committee of Tasters to pass the bar of Douro before the year 1865.

11 o'clock, Household Furniture,

A deputation composed of some of our most respectable citizens had an aud ence by appointment with His Excellency yesterday, at 121 o'clock, on the subject of an overland The deputation consisted of H. Rhodes, Esq., G. J. Findlay, Esq., and E. Grancini (merchants), Dr Helmcken (Speaker of the late House of Assembly), Dr Tolmie, Chief Factor of the Hudson Bay Company, Dr Powell, M. D., Lumley Franklin, Esq., ex-Mayor of Victoria, and J. Hepburn, E-q. The object of the deputation was to insist on the necessity of opening an overland route by railroad, or if that were impossible for the present, by wagon road. In the course of a long conversation, Mr Rhodes remarked on the steady perseverance with which Mr Waddington, who had thoroughly studied the question, had been spending his time and fortune in trying to open the Bute lulet route. and the confidence and encouragement he one of whom had heard the first word on the subject observed that a grant had been made to J. J. Southgate, Esq., before leaving for Europe, for a road by the Savanna Ferry and the Boat Encampment, to connect with Yale and New Westminster. This route which His Excellency seemed to think proferable, would, besides other insuperable objections, have to go by Howse Pass, 6347 ft. above the sea (something like that of the Simplen, in Switzerland); and as to connecting with Yale, Dr Helmcken observed, that it was simply impracticable, from his own per sonal knowledge. Dr Powell mentioned that the Canadian Government had commenced at their end of the road, and that it was mete that we should do as much in British Columbia. To this His Excellency replied in the affirmative, that he was willing to con-little purpose. The Governor, however, admitted, that he had been hindered by other important matters from giving a great deal of

The horses dashed down Government street, but Mr Holden, with much presence of mind, retained the reins and managed to turn the animals into the sidewalk opposite Mr Weissenburger's office. where they were secured. Helpin Interied. A Scrofalous infection, I have the first the state of the scrofalous infection, I have sometimes it burst out in Ulcers on my hands and arms;
sometimes it turned inward and distressed me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered my scalp and ears with one sore, which was painful and loathsome beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from anything. In fact, the disorder grew worse. At length I was rejoiced to read in the Gospei Messenger that you had prepared an alterative (Sarsaparilla), for I knew from your reputation that anything you made must be good,
I tensponful over a month, and used almost three bottles. New and healthy skin soon began to form under the scab, which after a while fell off. My skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that the disease has gone from my system. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying when I tell you, that I hold you to be one of the apostes of the age,
and remain ever gratefully. Yours,

I tried everything, and everything failed to relieve me; and I have been a broken-down man for some years from no other cause than derangement of the Liver. My beloved pastor, the Rev.
